Cardiff Colorectal Grand Round

7th April 2022

5.30 University Hospital of Wales

“How to train and be trained in Colonoscopy”

Miss Sarah Mills, Consultant Colorectal Surgeon, Chelsea and the Westminster

Chaired by Prof Jared Torkington, Consultant Colorectal Surgeon, President in Waiting ACPGBI

Miss Sarah Mills is a highly-reputable colorectal surgeon based in London. From her NHS base at Chelsea and Westminster Hospital she specialises in colorectal cancer, inflammatory bowel disease and haemorrhoids though her expertise is far wider. She is a JAG-accredited endoscopist and is developing a specialist practice in interventional endoscopy and cutting-edge techniques for treating complex polyps and early rectal cancers. She has an active interest in surgical research and has published widely in peer-reviewed journals.

Miss Mills has an interest in Global Health and regularly leads and teaches courses in low and middle income countries in Africa. These include the SAFE OR course, a multidisciplinary course for theatre teams of surgeons, anaesthetists and nurses focussing on using non- technical skills such as communication, leadership, situational awareness, decision making and conflict resolution to improve patient safety and outcomes.

Miss Mills is chair of the colonoscopy sub committee of the Association of Coloproctology Of Great Britain and Ireland.
